A TASTE OF HISTORY

Fun Food Facts from the Past

NOVEMBER 8TH - NOVEMBER 14TH

SUNDAY
NOVEMBER 8TH

Mexican Chicken Panini

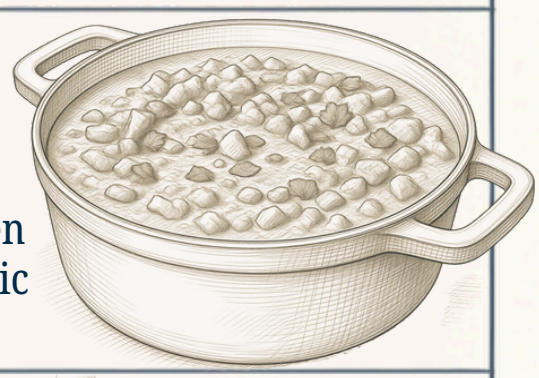

The panini originated in Italy, but the idea of a warm, pressed sandwich has been enjoyed around the world for centuries. This Mexican-style version adds bold, zesty flavors for a modern twist.

MONDAY
NOVEMBER 9TH

White Bean Sausage Chili

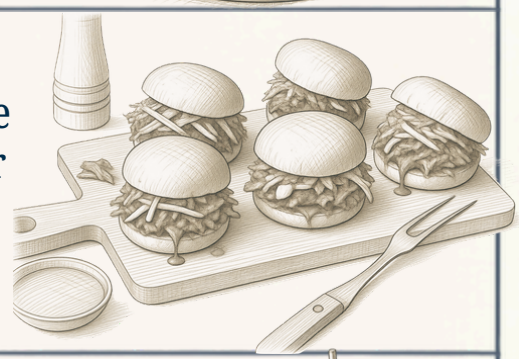

Chili has deep roots in American history, with cowboy cooks in the 1800s creating hearty stews from beans, meat, and spices cooked over an open fire. White beans add a creamy twist to this classic comfort dish.

TUESDAY
NOVEMBER 10TH

Pulled Pork Sliders

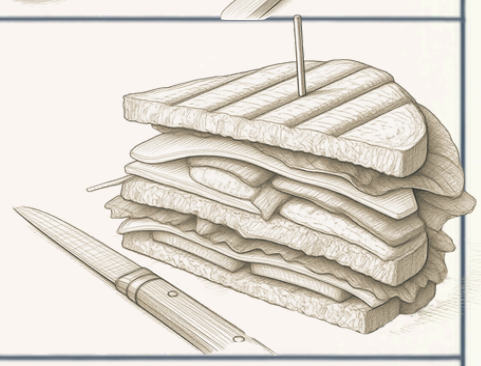

Pulled pork is a barbecue favorite with ties to the Southern United States, where slow-cooking over low heat has been a tradition for generations. Sliders became popular in the 20th century as a fun, smaller way to enjoy big flavors.

WEDNESDAY
NOVEMBER 11TH

Chicken Tender Club

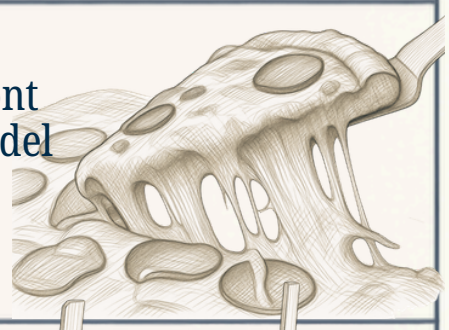

The club sandwich first appeared in the late 1800s at private clubs in the United States. Our version with crispy chicken tenders and bacon is a tasty, modern take on a classic.

THURSDAY
NOVEMBER 12TH

Cabin Pizza

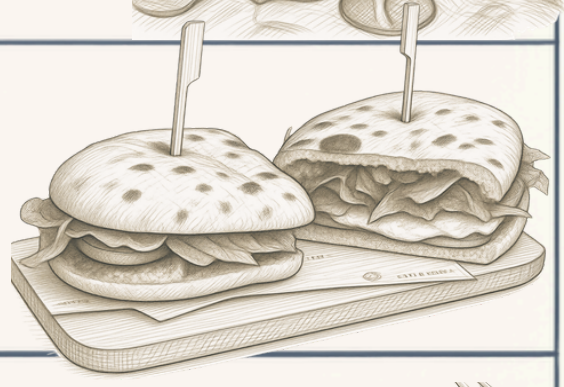

The Cabin has been serving pizza since 1973. The front portion of the restaurant was once a rope mill. A model of this can be seen in the Maritime Museum.

FRIDAY
NOVEMBER 14TH

Tomato & Mozzarella Pesto

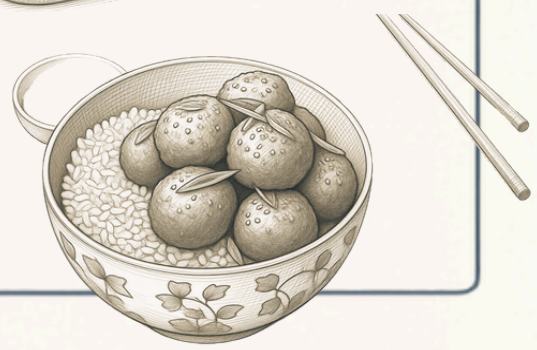

The classic combination of tomato, mozzarella, and basil has long been a staple of Italian cuisine, with pesto (a herb and nut sauce) originating in Genoa, Italy, centuries ago.

SATURDAY
NOVEMBER 15TH

Asian Meatballs

Meatballs are enjoyed in many cultures around the world, and Asian-style versions often feature a flavorful blend of ginger, garlic, and soy. Glass noodles made from mung beans, have been a staple in Asian cooking for centuries.
